THEY'RE ANGRY.

Just for Hampton would not have been arrested—Kentuckians refuse to accept Hampton's release.

Hampton, Ky., Jan. 8.—The state of Kentucky and the people of Green county refuse to accept Judge Buchanan's decision as final in the Hampton case, and a clever plan has been conceived to circumvent any further objects to Hampton's extradition when he is again arrested. The scheme threatens to create an issue which will result to the advantage of fugitives from justice.

Cincinnati police want a Negro who is now in Kentucky, and before forty-eight hours have passed, this Negro will be in the custody of Kentucky authorities. He will then be held as a hostage to insure the delivery of Hampton. If he is not surrendered the fugitive from Ohio will not be turned over to Ohio authorities.

He will then be held as a hostage to insure the delivery of Hampton. If he is not surrendered the fugitive from Ohio will not be turned over to Ohio authorities.

Hampton would have been in no danger of being lynched had he been brought back. It is said that a warrant will be issued against him here for bigamy also. Another requisition will be applied for. Citizens of Green county feel that the fair name of the community is involved, and will resort to any lawful expedient to have the fugitive brought back to trial.

HE DENIES IT.

Cleveland Makes Public a Letter He Wrote to His "Royal" Visitor.

They Were Not Recognized as a Committee That the President Could Not Refuse Them, Personally, the Courtesy of an Audience—The Letter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The senate debate on Senator Lodge's resolution in regard to Hawaiian matters has elicited a statement from the president as follows: The attention of the president having been called to a hint thrown out in the senate discussion on Friday that the visit of a certain "committee" of royalists from the Hawaiian islands was connected in some way with the departure of American ships from that locality, the president said: Of course, such an insinuation is very absurd. He properly said the motive behind it, I am sure, can safely be left to the judgment of fair and right thinking Americans. I am entirely willing that all our people should know everything I know concerning the visit of the so-called "Committee of royalists."

August 11, 1894.

The Hon. W. Q. Gresham, Secretary of State, Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst., and in reply to inform you that I have no objection to your publishing the letter which you refer to. I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant, W. M. McKim.

After this note had been received, I prepared in writing with some care a reply to the committee, to be sent by me to the committee at our meeting. I intended to avoid all misunderstanding and misconception by absolutely putting myself to each sentence, word, of which the following is a copy.

Gentlemen—You must permit me to remind you that this interview is not an official one, and that I am not speaking in my official capacity. I must say to individuals who have revealed a letter of mine for the purpose of creating a false impression. I am sure that you will find it in your power to do so. I am sure that you will find it in your power to do so. I am sure that you will find it in your power to do so.

Full appreciation of the constitutional limits of executive power, and by no means an admission of the fact that I have not taken the proper steps to prevent the publication of the letter, which had no official character, and which had no official character, and which had no official character.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The court of appeals of the District of Columbia rendered an opinion yesterday sustaining the decision of Judge Cole in the case of Moore, Chapman and MacCurry, the stock brokers, who refused to testify before the congressional investigating committee regarding individual speculations through their firms. Judge Cole's decision overruled a demurrer filed by the brokers to the government indictment.

Deaths by the Million.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The annual seed distribution at the agricultural department has so far resulted in sending out 1,000,000 papers of vegetable seeds to people throughout the country. The work will probably not be completed before May and no flower seeds have been sent out this season. There are still about 6,000,000 papers of seeds awaiting distribution.

Emigrant Inspection.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—The Paris correspondent of the Central News says that the United States embassy in that city authorities a denial of the reports that France protested against the presence at French ports of American inspectors of emigrants. Strangled to Death.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 7.—Victor Monchereux has been arrested, charged with having strangled Marie Contant, widow of 28. The arrest was made on information furnished by Alphonse Lamar, who is also under arrest on suspicion of having some connection with the strangling cases. Lamar says Monchereux's motives were robbery. He expected to receive $7,000 from the murder of Marie Montross, but got only $50. Monchereux is a desperate looking character about forty years of age and has very large hands. Both Monchereux and Lamar served sentences at San Quentin, Cal.

THE CAUCUS.

Agreement to Support an Amended Currency Bill—A Motion to Make the Caucus Action Binding Was Defeated.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—After three hours' discussion the democratic caucus Monday afternoon, by a vote of 85 to 29, agreed to support the Springer substitute for the Carlisle currency bill.

The caucus was called to order shortly before 5 o'clock by Judge Holman, of Indiana, chairman of the caucus committee. One hundred and fifty-two members were present, leaving more than seventy-five absent.

Immediately upon the conclusion of the roll call Mr. Livingston, of Georgia, made a motion that all those present should be bound by the action of the caucus. The chamber meanwhile had been rapidly filling up with members, and at the time the Livingston motion was made there was an instant chorus of "Nos," and a point of order was called that all those present should be bound by the action of the caucus. The chamber meanwhile had been rapidly filling up with members, and at the time the Livingston motion was made there was an instant chorus of "Nos," and a point of order was called that all those present should be bound by the action of the caucus.

Speaker Crisp took the floor and said that the democratic party in congress has kept its pledges. It has sustained the tariff, repudiated the federal election law and practical economy in appropriations. The party has differed in matters affecting currency and finance. The secretary of the treasury has formulated a bill. The question is can the party agree upon something to stand for this session. He believed legislation should be had, that congress should respond to the call of the treasury and of the country. He then offered a resolution that the members support the Carlisle bill substantially as presented in the substitute in the following words:

Mr. Blaine, of Missouri, immediately took the floor and opposed the Crisp resolution. He characterized the Carlisle bill as a repudiation of the time-honored principles of the democratic party from the days of Jefferson, Benton and others of the great leaders down to the present time. He stated with great emphasis that he would never support any measure which extended the power of the national banks.

In reply to a question he said he was willing to go as far as the democratic doctrine of ending both metals and abolishing the ten per cent. tax on state banks. Mr. Blaine said on conclusion that he was unwilling to accept the dictation of the secretary of the treasury in this matter.

Mr. Springer, in supporting the resolution, said in part:

"Our democratic president has endorsed the measure in his message to congress. It has been prepared after careful study and investigation by the democratic secretary of the treasury, Mr. Carlisle, a gentleman whose ability and character are beyond question in the United States, and whose administration of the treasury department has been as able as that of any of his predecessors."

"We do not claim," said he, "that we are bringing about a financial revolution, that we are cutting all the life out of our financial system, but we do claim that if this bill is passed, it will better all our friends and furnish the people of the United States a sound, efficient and flexible currency, will meet all the wants of trade and commerce, and give stability with home confidence throughout the world to our financial system."

Mr. Springer concluded his remarks amid the applause of his colleagues. Several members desired to submit questions, and to enable him to answer them his time was extended several times.

Mr. Sperry, of Connecticut, advocated the bill introduced by him last week, which provides for the funding of the legal tenders and the issuance of a low interest bearing bond. He then moved that the pending resolution be voted on. He said that the resolution was a measure of confidence in the treasury department, and that it was a measure of confidence in the treasury department, and that it was a measure of confidence in the treasury department.

Mr. Terry, of Arkansas, offered an amendment authorizing each state treasurer to buy silver bullion sufficient in amount to coin a dollar for every inhabitant of the state to be protected by the United States. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 54 yeas to 14 nays.

The Sperry amendment was then rejected by an overwhelming majority, their being but 14 yeas in its favor.

A second proposition was to the limitation of debate by the committee on rules. The first proposition was carried by a vote of 81 yeas to 39 nays, and the second proposition without material objection.

Kentucky's New Bench.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 8.—The court of appeals room was crowded with eminent lawyers from all over the state at the meeting of the new court at 11 o'clock Monday morning. After the meeting of the four judges of the old court, Chief Justice Hughes signed the record and vacated the bench. Chief Justice Pryor then took the chief justice's chair of the new court and asked Judges Green, Paynter and Duffy to be sworn in and join Judges Lewis and Hazlett on the bench.

No Tariff Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The republican-led committee attempted to meet Monday morning, but did not muster a quorum. Those present talked informally of the proposed program. Though no conclusion was reached, members of the conference said that there would be no tariff legislation, not even the correction of what are termed errors in the tariff. The right against the income tax, it was understood that Senator Quay would oppose that provision in the appropriation bill, and other republicans would make speeches, but there would be no party fight made upon it.

Floods in Southern Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 8.—Advices from southern Indiana tell of disastrous floods resulting from the heavy rains of the past forty-eight hours. The farmers are suffering severely from the overflow and more serious losses still are anticipated. At Bedford, on the Monon road, the bridge across Blue river has been washed away and the trains are running via North Vernon. At Vienna, on the main line of the Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis railroad, 500 feet of track has been washed away and traffic is seriously delayed from both north and south.
